// PAPER-THIN RIMLESS //

With colourful, interchangeable Beta-titanium temples, clasps and bridge, the new lightweight frames in the Paper-Thin Collection are described as the latest innovation from frame producers MODO. Paper-Thin Rimless is designed with a mono-block bridge, screwless hinges, and integrated, flexible nose pad arms. The injection-molded rubber temple tips can be adjusted and are available in various hues for both comfort and a pop of colour, while the Pin + Sleeves system maintains a minimalistic look and seamless lens insertion mechanism thanks to the screwless plastic sleeves. For Spring/Summer 20, three new Rimless optical designs are released. They include model 4609, a women's butterfly shape, and a cat-eye design 4610. The final optical shape is a unisex rounded-oval 4611. New for Spring/Summer 20 are three innovative Rimless sun designs that link form and function with the colour clarity and protection of MODO's HCD lenses. They include model 301, a women's oversized butterfly shape, and model 302, a double-bridge pilot style, with colours like navy titanium and grey lenses and blue with brown lenses.
